Description

Located on the east side of North Main Street, this house is said to have been built in 1895. It is a two story, three bay structure to which a one bay, two story extension was added to the south, and an L-addition to the rear. The entire structure is covered with German siding. Windows have two over two pane sash, and window architraves have peaked tops. There are louvered shutters. The main entrance has Eastlake-influenced trim and there is a three-bay one story front porch supported by chamfered posts. A wagon shop which once stood on this property was moved to 64 North Main Street and converted to a dwelling about 1910.

According to the owner, Kenneth Ellis, this is one of several houses built by Kitzmiller and Keedy, contractors in the 1890s. It was built as a residence for Mr. Kitzmiller, but was sold to William Geeting in the early 1900s.
